PERSONAL—

SAD SUICIDE.

MRS. SARA R. DE PUY TAKES HER OWN LIFE.

Grief Over the Death of Her Father and Distress Over Her Husband's Dissipation the Cause of the Rash Act—The Coroner's Inquest.

Some excitement was created on the streets yesterday about noon, when it was reported that Judge J. J. de Puy had committed suicide. Investigation, however, soon showed this was a mistake, and that it was his wife, Mrs. Sara R. de Puy, who had taken her own life, under peculiarly pathetic circumstances at her residence at No. 138½ South Hill street. Judge de Puy, as is generally known, is in the habit of going on protracted sprees, during which periods his wife, who was a proud, sensitive woman, was greatly worried over his conduct, appearing at times to be almost on the verge of distraction. Monday week Mr. de Puy went to San Bernardino, where he was counsel in a case, and returned to the city again last Friday. He had evidently been drinking again heavily, and did not go home, but spent the time at some of his haunts about town. Mrs. de Puy, becoming alarmed at his long absence, and knowing what was the matter, after waiting a day or two called in a friend, D. W. Colby, and asked him to look up the Judge. Mr. Colby started out on his search Sunday, but was unsuccessful, which fact seemed to worry Mrs. de Puy very much. Monday Mr. Colby again

LOOKED FOR THE JUDGE,

and during the afternoon his wife and daughter called on Mrs. de Puy, as did also several other ladies. She was very de spondent, and told the ladies that she had just received a letter from her sister telling her of the death of her father. That night the ladies called again, and Miss Jennie Colby stayed until 10:30 o'clock. At that hour her father called, and when the young lady offered to remain with her during the night, Mrs. de Puy thanked her, but told her that as she was not very well and that she had no conveniences she had better go home, remarking at the same time that she could not sleep, and would probably be up and down all during the night. Miss Colby, accompanied by her father, then left, telling Mrs. de Puy that she and her mother would call again the next morning and see how she felt. This was the last seen of the unfortunate lady alive. Yesterday morning about 11 o'clock Miss Colby and her mother called at the house, according to appointment, and were surprised to find the door locked. After trying the door, they were about to leave, when a lady who rooms on the opposite side of the hall came out and told them that, as she had not heard Mrs. de Puy that morning or seen anything of her, she was fearful that there was

SOMETHING WRONG.

She said she had seen Judge de Puy come out of the rooms and leave the house about an hour before, but had heard nothing of his wife. Miss Colby then tried another door, and finding it open she went in, followed by her mother, and discovered the lifeless body of Mrs. de Puy, attired in her night dress, lying on the sofa. They at once gave the alarm, and Dr. F. T. Bicknell was telephoned for. Mrs. Colby also sent for her husband, and when the Doctor arrived again entered the room where the body lay. The doctor at once saw that he could do nothing, as the lady had been dead several hours, and was even then covered with small black ants, which had evidently come out of the furniture. The body was dressed in her night garments, and around her neck a narrow yellow ribbon, to which was attached a small key. On a small stand by her side were two letters, addressed to her sister and sister-in-law in the East, and on the floor was another letter; a note was also found, telling Mr. Colby to take possession of the key about her neck, and look after certain things until her husband was himself again. The features of the dead woman were composed and peaceful, showing that her death had been an easy one, and by the side of the sofa were her slippers, where she had taken them off before she lay down for her last long sleep. The room had not been put in order for the day, and all the indications went to show that, in alone with her sorrow, she had deliberately made all the preparations for ending her life, and then carried her plans into execution. She had found her burden too heavy to bear, and had given up the fight. The body was not disturbed until the arrival of the Coroner, who took possession of the letters, when it was removed to Orr & Suteh's undertaking rooms, on Spring street, where an inquest was held last evening.

THE INQUEST.

Coroner Meredith held the inquest at 8 o'clock. There were quite a number of ladies in attendance, members of the Order of the Eastern Star, with which Mrs. de Puy was also connected. Only three witnesses were examined, Miss Jennie Colby, her father and Dr. Bicknell. Miss Colby testified as to the finding of the body, and other facts as above given, as did her father, who said that Mrs. de Puy had been very despondent for some days, because of her husband's actions, which was made worse by the news of her father's death. He also said that he had spent some time in searching for De Puy. He knew nothing about the circumstances of Mrs. de Puy's death. Dr. Bicknell testified that he had been summoned by telephone, and had gone to Mrs. de Puy's residence, but found her dead, and, of course, did nothing. He said that she had been dead some hours, anywhere from 3 to 18, he could not say which, as he had made no examination, and could only tell from the rigidity of the body.

was taken by the Coroner to view the body, and something of a stir was created when that official came out and got several of the lady friends of the deceased, together with the embalmer, all of whom went into the room where the corpse lay, and where an examination was made. They were gone for some minutes, and when they came out again it was asked whether there were any marks of violence, but it was stated that only a few small bruises were found on the back of the neck, but nothing serious. All the parties, however, were very reticent about this feature of the examination, and were not inclined to talk about it, leading a person to suppose that there was much more than they cared to say. The examination of Dr. Bicknell was then resumed, and, during the course of it, when a juror asked if the deceased was in the habit of taking morphine, the Doctor said that he did not believe that she was, and stated that some weeks ago, when he was called to attend her, and she was suffering great pain, he had tried to get her to take a dose of morphine, but she refused, saying that she would take Dovers powders, and when search was made for that medicine a box of morphine pills had been found, when she exclaimed: "Good heavens! is it possible that Judge de Puy has commenced taking morphine again? I did not know that there was a grain of the drug on the place." It was also learned that Mrs. de Puy had not been asleep since Friday night, nor had she been able to eat anything. After hearing the evidence while the jury deliberated upon the verdict. They were somewhat longer about this than usual, and appeared to be discussing some point of more than ordinary importance, but finally their scruples were satisfied, and they reported that the deceased, Sara R. de Puy, a native of Michigan, aged 49 years, had come to her death from an overdose of poison, probably a narcotic, taken by herself with intent to commit suicide while laboring under great mental depression.

THE ROOM WAS CLEARED

JUDGE DE PUY'S SINGULAR ACTIONS.

There is no accounting for the very peculiar actions of Judge de Puy, except that he was so much under the influence of liquor that he could not realize what had happened. He came home some time yesterday morning, but at what hour is not known, and was seen leaving the house about an hour before the discovery of his wife's body, going to the Hammam baths, where he was afterward found. On his way down town he met a lady acquaintance, a Mrs. Whaley, to whom he made the remark that his wife was dead, but in a rash a manner that the lady told him that he must be crazy, but, nevertheless, afterwards went up to the house only to find that it was true. Later in the day, however, when he began to realize the great misfortune which had befallen him, the man appeared to be overcome by remorse, and attempted to take his own life, but was prevented by friends, and taken to the County Jail, where he was locked up for safe keeping. At a late hour last night he was nervously walking up and down the jail corridors, and upbraiding himself for the manner in which he had acted, and which had driven his wife to her death. He is completely broken down, and says he will kill himself as soon as he gets an opportunity.

THOSE LETTERS.

As before mentioned, there were three letters addressed to her relatives left by Mrs. de Puy, and these were taken possession of by Coroner Meredith. It was expected that they would be introduced in evidence, but nothing was done beyond showing the envelopes to the witnesses, who identified the handwriting. After the inquest, a TIMES reporter asked the Coroner what the contents of the letters were, and whether they contained anything bearing on the case. Mr. Meredith peremptorily refused to allow the reporter to either see the letters, or to say what the contents were. He said that he never suppressed any item of news, but that these letters were of a sensational nature, and that for this reason he deemed it best that they should not be given to the public. It is believed that several of the jurors also saw the letters, but they also refused to give any inkling as to their contents. This singular action of the Coroner caused much unfavorable comment, as people are always ready to believe the very worst in any instance, and, in common justice to the living and dead, they should be made public, and clear up any mystery that may exist. Of course, the Coroner may have a legal right to suppress the letters, but if he can break the seal and read them, the public have a moral right to demand them. It was very unwise, to say the least of it, that they should have been suppressed, when so many allusions were made to them.

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

The funeral of Mrs. de Puy will be under the charge of the Order of the Eastern Star, of which she was a member. Rev. Will A. Knighten, the chaplain, will conduct the services, in the absence of Dr. Fay, and at the grave the ladies will hold the special services of the order. The deceased was one of the most popular women in the city and was foremost in all charitable works. She took a prominent part in the Flower and Paper Carnivals and was also connected with several church societies. She came to Los Angeles from Ohio a number of years ago, and leaves a large circle of friends to mourn her death.

Hop at Long Beach.

A correspondent writes THE TIMES: "The Californian certainly knows how to enjoy himself, and when pleasure waxes dull in the city on account of the weather, simply transfers himself to the coast and goes on with the merry dance. That he is wise in his choice of locality was proven by the way in which he descended on Long Beach. On Saturday evening took place one of those hops for which the hotel is becoming noted under the management of Mr. Prussia and wife.

One could scarcely hope to find a better dancing-hall than the spacious dining-room with its well-waxed floor, nor more sole-enticing music than Los Angeles furnished for this occasion, nor better opportunities for resting and flirting between waltz and quadrille than the wide, moon-lighted piazas with their shadowy corners afforded.

Capt. Banning brought over a merry coachload from Wilmington, among whom were Miss Mott and Miss O'Melveny of Los Angeles, "Joe" Banning and wife, also Hancock Banning.

The costumes were universally pretty and becoming, some of them being very elegant, one dainty little lady, wearing a blue and white "confection," which whispered "Worth" in every fold. Mrs. Chadbourne of San Francisco, Mrs. George Wilshire of the same city and Mrs. T. B. MacDonald of Los Angeles wore noticeably fine diamonds.

The names of a few of the guests are:

Mrs. Chadbourne and son, Mr. Wilshire and wife, Miss Havermann, Miss Elder, Mrs. Parris and son, Mr. and Mrs. MacKinley, Mr. and Mrs. Cosmo Morgan, Miss Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Gifford, W. S. Peter Lelant, an old gentleman living upstairs at 232½ Spring street, left his home yesterday afternoon about 3:30 and has not been seen since. He is described as a man 57 years old, with gray hair and beard, 5 feet 9 inches high, weighing 180 or 190 pounds, and when he left the house had on a nightshirt, gray coat and vest, and black pants and a brown soft hat. Any information concerning him may be reported to Mrs. Leiant at the above address, or at the police station.

THE FREEHOLDERS.

AN UNINTERESTING SESSION OF THAT BODY YESTERDAY.

They Want Viaducts at All Railway Crossings, and Garbage Carts Must Do Their Work at Night—A Few Changes of Minor Importance.

The Board of Freeholders were in session again yesterday afternoon, and spent four hours in solemn counsel over the city charter. Thus far the changes they have made in the defeated charter have passed without comment from the people, and, indeed, the people have taken so little interest in the deliberations of the body that they have not even shown themselves in the hall to see how things were going on. Mayor Workman was in the chair yesterday, and eight members of the board were present at roll call.

Taking up the regular business, the reading of the old charter was begun with section 14, article 3. The hours in which the office of the Council should be kept open were stricken out, and the section now reads: "The Council shall have an office in the City Hall of the city."

SECTION 15,

providing as to how the enacting clause of ordinances should read, was left intact. Section 16 was altered by inserting "six" where "four" members occurs, so that six of the members shall constitute a quorum. The section then reads "that no ordinance shall be passed, no bills audited, etc., unless two-thirds of the members of the Council shall vote in favor thereof."

Mr. Robinson presented an anonymous communication addressed to the board, conveying the suggestion that the charter should contain a clause providing for the annexation of contiguous territory. It was referred to a committee of one, consisting of Gen. Mansfield.

Maj. Bonebrake suggested that there be a clause compelling those who were laying out streets on the numerous tracts in the city, to make the new streets conform with the survey of the city before the city should accept and take control of the streets. Referred to Gen. Mansfield and Mr. Brown for a report when the street business came up.

SECTION 17,

providing for the bonds of officers and contractors, was unchanged except for the substituting of "City Clerk" for "Clerk of the Council." Section 18, which says that no Councilman shall be interested in any contract work, was unchanged, and goes in as read in the old charter. Section 19 went through, with the change that the City Clerk should be present at the meetings of the Council. Section 20 found no objectors, and was adopted as read. Section 21 was treated in like manner, and the reading went on until section 23 was reached, when Maj. Bonebrake objected to the clause providing that the number of police judges should not exceed five, and moved to make the number two. Mr. Brown thought that one Police Court, clothed with the proper powers, could do all the work of the city. Mr. Mackay moved to strike out all that part of the section relative to the number of judges, which was fixed elsewhere in the charter. Carried.

Section 24, on the exits of theaters and other public buildings, was adopted as read. Sections 25, 26 and 27 stood without objection.

SECTION 28,

providing for the surveys of streets and blocks, was discussed at some length, some wanting to substitute "shall" compel all persons to conform to the streets as they now are, instead of "may" compel, etc., and others wanted a clause providing that no person shall make a subdivision in a tract until his map should be accepted by some proper person, and no streets should be made until the survey should be accepted by the Street Superintendent. The whole matter was referred to Mr. Brown and Gen. Mansfield, and the section was adopted without change.

The reading was then resumed without objection up to section 31. Here Dr. Kurtz wanted to know if the clause couldn't be inserted prohibiting the companies from laying electric wires on private property, but Gen. Mansfield said that the city had no such power. The section was unchanged, save for a slight alteration in the phraseology.

SECTION 32

was read, and Gen. Mansfield said that of all the nuisances he had been subjected to in the city, it was the ringing of church bells in the indiscriminate way they are now rung in the city, and he heartily favored the clause suppressing the nuisances. Mr. Mackay said he would hate to see the board do anything that would interfere with the ringing of church bells, and that Gen. Mansfield ought not to want any such clause, and if the section had any reference to the church and fire bells, he would certainly vote against it. Mr. Brown said the same thing, and that he considered the ringing of church bells one of the sweetest sounds in the world. A good deal of good-natured raillery was indulged in at the General's expense, and the clause was allowed to stand as read.

In section 33, the word "cleaning" was inserted after "sweeping" of streets.

SECTION 34,

providing for flagmen or warning signals at railway crossings, was discussed for some moments. Dr. Kurtz wanted to strike out the words "automatic warning signals," saying that no one ever paid any attention to them, and many accidents had resulted. Mr. Mackay wanted to compel the road to put in viaducts at all street crossings, the railroad crossings being the greatest nuisances in the city, and one human life was worth all the viaducts and would pay for their building.

Mr. Estudillo didn't want to antagonize the roads in the charter, as they would attempt to beat it, and if there were any stringent methods to be adopted, let the Council so ordain, and not put it in the charter.

was of the same opinion as the gentleman who preceded him, but Mr. Mackay said he saw no objection to striking out the words "automatic warning signals" and putting in "or viaducts." Maj. Bonebrake didn't want to give the Council power to monkey around the railroads in any style, putting them to an expense of $500,000 just in a whim.

Mr. Mackay said there was more danger of the Council being too friendly to the railroads than otherwise, and there was no danger of their doing anything to hurt the companies much. The motion was put to make the section read:

"The Council shall by ordinance require railway companies to either station a flagman, or place gates or viaducts or other safety signals at where the Council may deem necessary." The ayes and nays were called and the motion was lost.

The motion to strike out "automatic signals" was put and carried.

Mr. Day then gave notice that he would move for reconsideration at the next meeting.

The reading was begun again and the sections were adopted without argument to section 36, when Mr. Day moved to insert a clause to have the garbage removed at night. Gen. Mansfield seconded him in strong terms, saying that he thought it not to the best interests of the public health to remove it in the daytime. He considered it an intolerable nuisance.

Dr. Kurtz wanted an ordinance compelling the garbage carts to resort to the alleys and side streets in loading garbage instead of coming right up in front of houses and taking the garbage out the front doors.

Mr. Day changed his motion so as to read that the garbage be removed at such hours as would be best for the public good, in order to provide for the residence portion of the city, where it would be hardly possible to remove it at night. Carried.

The board then adjourned to Friday at 1 p.m.

Point Reyes Fog Signal.

By order of the Lighthouse Board, Commander Nicoll Ludlow, U. S. N., Lighthouse Inspecter of the Twelfth District, has issued the following notice to mariners, dated San Francisco, June 25, 1888:

Notice is given that the Point Reyes signal is again in operation. While the sirens are being repaired a whistle will be blown by hand, giving blasts of five (5) seconds, at intervals of seventy (70) seconds.

REWARD.

A reward of one hundred ($100) dollars will be paid for information sufficient to lead to the conviction of any party or parties guilty of wantonly running down buoys on the coast of California.

Several automatic whistling buoys off the coast of this lighthouse district have been run down, damaged or sunk within the last year. This can only be due to criminal carelessness and unseamanlike negligence, and a strong effort will be made to fix the responsibility, and to enforce the law against any party or parties guilty of damaging these aids to navigation.

DEMOCRATS ON HARRISON.

They Would Have Preferred Blaine—Some Graveyard Whistling.

All day yesterday the Democrats spent their time talking politics, and while a few shallow-pated ones braced themselves back and swore that Cleveland would have a walk-over in November, a number of the thinkers of the party looked worried and were not at all backward about saying that they know the party has a mighty hard fight before it. They looked on Blaine as an easy man to beat, and they were confident that he would get the nomination. In fact nine-tenths of them wanted him, and when they learned that he was not to be the man their playful spirits left them, and now they have made up their minds to pull off their coats and work for all that is out. A Democratic editor said:

"There will be more money spent in this campaign than ever before during the history of the Republic. We thought we had the corporations solid, for everybody knows that Cleveland is a corporation man, but the big corporations have more confidence in Gen. Harrison, and will support him to the bitter end. I don't believe the Republicans could have put up a stronger ticket, and we will have to fight mighty hard to carry the day."

Judge Albert M. Stephens.—"Harrison's nomination means a walk-over for the Democrats. He has antagonized the labor men by his attitude on the Chinese question, and we will have no trouble in beating him."

Hon. R. F. del Valle.—"Speaking as Democrats, the nominations suit us exactly. It is just the thing for this coast, and it will be no trouble to beat them. The Democrats ought to have gotten together last night and done the ratifying in place of the Republicans. In fact, there are more Democrats hoarse from cheering this morning than Republicans."

T. E. Rowan.—"The nominations suit the Democrats exactly, and they feel good over them. Harrison's Chinese record will down him. The Democrats have more cause for ratifying than the Republicans."

Mayor Workman.—"Looking at it from a Democratic standpoint, I'm satisfied with the ticket, and think we can beat it. If we must have a Republican President, I would rather have Harrison than Blaine. I think the country would be safe in Harrison's hands. Blaine I have no confidence in, and would dislike to see him elected more than any other Republican."

Secretary Waters of the County Central Committee.—"The nomination is all right for the Democrats. We like it, and there won't be much fight. Harrison's pro-Chinese record will kill him and take from him the labor vote that Blaine would have received, though Blaine was even a poorer man. Harrison stands no show on this coast, and I think that his speech on the Chinese question ought to be dug up and spread broadcast over the country, just to show the people his position. The Democrats are happy over it."

Councilman Gibbs.—"It was a surprise to me when Harrison was nominated. I thought they were going to nominate Blaine, and I was very much in hopes they would, but I guess we can beat Harrison just as we did Blaine. It was a wise thing to put a New York man on the ticket to help him out."

Councilman Hanley.—"We are satisfied with it. I guess they put up about the best man they had, but I thought they would nominate Blaine and would have been glad if they had."

Councilman Collins.—"I think we can elect Cleveland by a scratch."

J. M. Muir.—"The Republicans have put up a better man than Blaine and a harder man to beat."

THE BELL LIBELS.

AFTER B. A. STEPHENS AND HIS LITTLE PAPER.

Several Hours' Hard Work on a Jury—The "Blackmailin' Item" Causes the Trouble—Several Unimportant Witnesses Testify—A Very Tame Affair.

In Department No. 3 of the Superior Court, yesterday, the cases of criminal libel, in which Horace Bell is the complaining witness, were called by Judge O'Melveny. It was decided to first take up the one of the People vs. B. A. Stephens, in which the defendant is charged with publishing in a newspaper called the Pomona Progress, of which he was the editor and publisher, a libelous statement regarding Horace Bell, on the 10th of March, 1887. Assistant District Attorney Harrison, assisted by Deputy Payton, and Horace Bell, Esq., prosecuted the case on behalf of the State, and G. Wiley Wells, Esq., with C. C. Stephens, Esq., as associate counsel, represented the defendant. The whole of the morning was consumed in getting nine jurymen, and at noon the term trial jury panel having been exhaused, a special venire was issued, returnable at 2 o'clock. Without any great delay the jury was completed, and by 3 o'clock testimony on behalf of the prosecution was being taken. The first witness called was who testified that on the 10th of March, 1887, the date of the alleged libel, he was a resident of Pomona, and so far as he knew B. A. Stephens was the editor and proprietor of the Pomona Progress. A compositor engaged on that newspaper also testified to the defendant being the editor and proprietor.

UNITED STATES ATTORNEY DENIS,

upon being called and sworn, testified: I know B. A. Stephens, and I had some conversation with him regarding his connection with the paper called the Pomona Progress. The conversation took place in the court room of Justice Taney, when I, as Deputy District Attorney, was prosecuting this case in that court. Several witnesses who then gave evidence did not wish to be called again to testify, and asked me if it could not be avoided, and I thereupon asked Mr. Stephens if he would concede the point, that he was the editor and proprietor of the paper, and by so doing allow the witnesses mentioned from being put to the inconvenience of again coming into court. In reply the defendant said that he, and he only, was responsible for what appeared in the columns of the paper of which he was editor and publisher.

then took the witness stand and testified: I live at Pomona, and am a printer by trade. I know the Pomona Progress newspaper, and worked in the office for some time. At that time B. A. Stephens was editor and proprietor of the Progress.

Cross-examined: I knew that the defendant was the proprietor of the paper, because his name appeared on the paper and having heard it reported.

Col. Wells: The witness having gained his knowledge regarding the editor and proprietorship of the paper from hearsay, we move that it be stricken out.

The Court: The motion is sustained.

Redirect: It was always outside people that I heard speak regarding Mr. Stephens's position. At that time I was engaged in setting type.

JUSTICE TANEY,

of the Township Court, then took the stand and testified: I remember a conversation being held in my courtroom while the Stephens libel case was being inquired into, between Mr. Denis and the defendant. I cannot tell the exact date, but it was about a year ago. Mr. Denis asked Mr. Stephens if he would admit that he was the editor and proprietor of the Pomona Progress, and by so doing avoid the necessity of certain witnesses again being called.

At this point the Assistant District Attorney filed in evidence the paper containing the libelous paragraph, which ran as follows: "He is now engaged in suing Louis Mesmer for blackmail money." The counsel desired to read to the jury the entire article containing the above paragraph, for the purpose of showing malice, but defending counsel making objection, a long-continued argument took place as to whether in a criminal case such a course of action was permissible. The Court, being in some doubt upon the point, took the matter under advisement, and the prosecution thereupon rested their case.

The defense will open this morning, and, as in this particular case there are not many witnesses, it will probably be concluded by midday, when another of the libel suits will be taken up in the afternoon.

FIFTY THOUSAND ACRES.

A Big Suit Over an Old Mexican Grant.

The complaint in a very important suit, to which over 200 people are parties and involving a very large sum of money, was filed yesterday in the office of the County Clerk. Juan de Tora and 28 other persons figure as the plaintiffs in the suit against Alfred Robinson and over 200 other defendants to acquire legal title to a certain portion of the lands contained in the Los Coyotes rancho, a Mexican grant, containing over 50,000 acres. The plaintiffs are the devisees under the will of Juan José Nito and their successors in interest claim to be the equitable owners of about one undivided tenth of the property. Several documents of importance have recently come to light which were not produced when the grant was confirmed.

No Danger Signals.

The excavations for the cable road on Main and other streets are causing no end of complaint. It is charged that half the time there are no lights out, and on one side of the ditch there is no fence. Already there have been several accidents, and the next thing the company knows, they will have a big lawsuit on their hands. Red lanterns every 25 feet would prevent any trouble, and should be provided at once.

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.

Skin entirely gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg diminished one-third in size. Condition Hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. It had diminished about one-third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and today, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

Constitutional Catarrh

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poisons it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER; price, $1.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The C. B. and Q. and the Brotherhood.

LETTER FROM A LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEER.

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] In the issue of THE TIMES of June 15th was printed a letter from one signing himself V. E. Fanner, in which he expressed himself in a way that would tend to mislead the public in regard to the condition of affairs on the C. B. and Q. The article quoted says: "The engineers, as far as he can see, are competent and give good satisfaction to the public and company." Mr. Fanner is ignorant of the true state of affairs on the said road, or wilfully misrepresents the situation.

I know that many of the engineers that are at present employed on the "Q." have been discharged by that company and other roads, as well as expelled from the Brotherhood, for drunkenness, and more serious offenses. Drunkenness, in most cases, makes a scab of what should otherwise be a trustworthy engineer. A man to be a member of the Brotherhood must be an experienced engineer. He must be sobef and a man of good moral character; and the man who is not qualified for the Brotherhood is unqualified to hold the responsible position of an engineer upon any train with the precious lives of the patrons of any railroad.

Some of the competent men now running on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy system—competent according to their (the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy's) official statement, and that of Mr. Fanning— are, in relation to the locomotive, possessed of ignorance profoundly deep. I deny that the men on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy are competent men. As every member of the order is aware, they have at present in their employ men who have been discharged by other railroads for incompetency, and men who have run only threshing machines and stationary boilers.

Since the commencement of the trouble there have been more than 100 engines burned in the hands of those men, whom Mr. Fanner and the company would have the public believe were competent engineers; and by advices from different points on the system, I am informed that there are over 175 engines very badly damaged, to say nothing of cars that have been broken up. But that is nothing to the brotherhood, further than to say that the members of engineers and firemen have not destroyed one dollar's worth of their property. The loss of the company has reached an enormous figure.

I wonder who counted those cars that passed Pacific Junction for Mr. Fanner, and was he informed that they were "empties," and run through for a "blind?"

How do these figures please you, my friend? Does this coincide with your views and knowledge of the true condition of affairs on the "Q?" "Actual earnings on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad for the month of April, 1888, show a decrease of $494,055, as compared with April, 1887, while the operating expenses of the road increased $261,395."

This shows the "competency of Mr. Fanner's "scabs" who have taken the places of efficient mechanics.

For the four months ending April, the earnings show a decrease of $3,391,172 as compared with 1887. What caused this? Not the brotherhood, as H. B. Stone and the stockholders, Mr. Fanner says, "are going to run their own road."

They cannot sink, or even duck under water the brotherhood, and it may as well be known to the world at large that the fight with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy is a righteous battle on our side. We have all enlisted and are going to stay.

Although handsome bribes are offered many individuals of the brotherhood on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy system, in order to undermine them and break their ranks, I will say to the honor of the order, they cannot be flanked in any such manner, nor by such men as V. E. Fanner or Paul Morton, the prevaricator of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, and his boastful statements that "the strike is off."

Their pickets are out and wide awake.

As an organization the brotherhood has not lost anything as yet in this fight; and as long as the brothers on the C. B. and Q. system stand as they do today, solid to a man, they will lose nothing.

As to "who is going to control affairs," and the "wages question" here, this champion of the "Q" betrays his malevolence at seeing any class of laboring men clasp hands for their mutal protection and benefit, and how candidly and eagerly he offers his information to the public.

And where does he come into possession of this? He says "from what he can see." He must be nearsighted. Certainly he is not one of the brotherhood, and, therefore, able to speak from authority.

Is he aware that the engineers on the C. B. and Q. system have been paid far less for their labor than the engineers on 90 per cent. of other roads in the United States. This, and the tyrrany of H. B. Stone and other officials, have caused their trouble. Railway managers, whose ability and experience far exceed Mr. Stone, have always treated the engineers in a respectful manner; and there is not a well-managed road in the United States today whose officials would hesitate to grant all the engineers and firemen asked of H. B. Stone.

I write this that all who are interested may know the true position of the brotherhood in this strike.

In conclusion, I will assure Mr. Fanner that he will always find a reply from the Brotherhood of Los Angeles to any and all his invectives, now or in future. AN ENGINEER.

[The above, which, THE TIMES is assured, was written on behalf of the Los Angeles division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is printed for the sake of giving that organization the hearing to which its members feel themselves entitled, and not for the purpose of further fomenting a quarrel which must be damaging to both parties to it.—ED. TIMES.]

Elysian Hospital.

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] I notice in your issue of Saturday, and also in the other dailies, reference to the selection by the Council of the outskirts of Elysian Park as a location for the smallpox hospital, and in order to give the other side of the question a chance, I think a word from me may not be inopportune. It is, of course, not to be contradicted that such an institution is far from a pleasant or desirable neighbor, but the fact still remains that it is a necessary evil and must be placed somewhere, and the question is where shall it be? and is it possible to find any spot within our city that will not cause the same protests from some one affected by it? While it is not to be expected that any other point will be more acceptable than the one now under consideration, I have had some considerable experience with the present hospital, having been the physician in charge during the past winter, and know it to be an entirely unsuitable location for the purpose, being in a thickly settled part of the city, with the public road passing close to the fence, and liable to scatter contagion from its very doors; hence the great need of a change is apparent. I am knowing to the fact that Mayor Workman and the Board of Health have been trying hard for the past 18 months to find a suitable location, and I believe they have found the most isolated and least objectionable one. I have visited and thoroughly examined the proposed site, and must say that I see no foundation in fact for the great cry raised against it, and I doubt if any spot in our city can be found that offers less objectionable features. It is situated in a small ravine on the very outskirts of the park, far removed from any habitation, and for years to come will be as secluded as any one could wish. It is surrounded by high hills that thoroughly conceal it, while they make near approach impossible. I do not think it advisable to erect expensive buildings, and think all cause for opposition would be done away with if cheap, detached wards, easily removable, were built, so that at any future time, did circumstances demand, they could be easily changed to some other locality, while they would at the same time be far more desirable for the treatment of such patients than larger buildings. It seems hardly fair to place obstructions in the way of the Council without at least offering some solution to the problem. This is a question in which all are interested, and it is plain that we must have such an institution, and soon at that. Smallpox has been our visitor for some time, and will probably exist to some extent all summer, while next winter will be sure to bring new cases. Why would it not be a good idea, Mr. Editor, to allow the obstructionists a certain time to offer a new location, free from the objections they find in this one, and if at the end of the time they have failed, then let them refrain from opposition when they can offer nothing better.

Not Chelf.

VERNON, June 26.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] In my communication published in THE TIMES of Saturday, June 23d, there is an error in the name of the Deputy District Attorney who prosecuted the case of the People vs. Murtz, tried before Justice Getchell in Vernon, June 19th. It was stated as "Chelf;" it should have been S. M. Taylor. How the error occurred, I do not know. I regret very much that it occurred, and I understand that Mr. Chelf feels very indignant about it. Please make this correction in justice to Mr. Chelf, and oblige, yours truly,

VERNON.

Our Premium Organ.

Ladies and others desiring to inspect and test the "Mirror" Premium Organ are invited to call at the Times Building, second floor, where a good opportunity will be given in a quiet room for that purpose.

WE are not surprised that the Democrats don't like the Republican platform. It isn't built that way.

IN our article yesterday on the Presidential ticket two paragraphs became transposed, causing a reference to Gen. Harrison to apply to Mr. Morton. The intelligent reader doubtless read aright, notwithstanding the transposition.

THE dispatches indicate that Sherman's refusal to go over to Blaine, although tempted to do so by the offer of a cabinet position, had the effect of defeating Blaine and electing Harrison. If that is so, Senator Sherman rendered a substantial service to the country.

MR. MORTON is a successful business man—one who has made his money by legitimate enterprises. Many think that the proportion of business men to lawyers at Washington is less than it should be. Mr. Morton will undoubtedly add great strength to the ticket. It will puzzle the Democrats to find any serious objection to him.

THE inside facts in regard to the plans of the Blaine boomers at Chicago are now beginning to come to the surface. It seems that the country has to thank Messrs. Haymond, De Young & Co. for the failure of the attempt to nominate Mr. Blaine, although their desires ran entirely the other way.

THE glorious Stars and Stripes will triumphantly wave over a continent of freemen next November, and the red bandana will be retired to serve its legitimate purpose. The time is never coming when the American flag will "fall flat" before the Democratic bandana.

SOME of our contemporaries seem to labor under the belief that it was California that turned the tide in favor of Harrison. This is incorrect. It was New York—aided by Pennsylvania—which really decided the contest. This points to the probability that the State of New York will exercise a large influence in the cabinet-making operations of President Harrison.

IN view of the nominations which have been made at Chicago some of the predictions which have been made by the journals of the country as to whom would be the Presidential nominees afford somewhat amusing reading. It is pretty hard to predict in advance where Presidential lightning will strike.

OUR Democratic contemporaries have already commenced to find fault with the attire of Gen. Harrison. Frequent changes of underclothing doubtless inspire suspicion in the minds of those whose ideal is a snuffy handkerchief, but there are a great many persons in this country who have a weakness for personal cleanliness—more than would be believed by the average Democrat, who seldom strays away from his immediate surroundings.

THE bandana is usually considered as representative only of the tail end of the Democratic ticket, but it seems really to be quite as appropriate in connection with Cleveland. An investigation of the origin of the word shows that it is derived from the Hindustani bandhna, "to tie in a knot," referring to a mode of dyeing, in which the fabric is tied in knots so as to exclude the color from the knotted portions, thus producing white spots. The appropriateness of a word meaning "to tie a knot," in connection with the Buffalo official, is very marked.

A Live Issue.

The result of the present campaign will furnish, to a greater than usual extent, a significant test of the opinions held by American voters on the leading questions of the day, and of the degree in which persons who are deeply interested in a very important and prominent question will permit their sentimental associations with a political party to lead them to vote against their clearly-defined interests.

It is many years since a contest for the Presidency has been so distinctively one of principle as it is this year. Both Republicans and Democrats admit this fact, although some Democrats, who realize the one-sided character of the issues involved, from an American point of view, endeavor to belittle the importance of that feature of the contest. Such efforts are of no avail. The fact is palpable and incontrovertible that the main overshadowing issue in the present campaign is between American and European labor—is whether that system which has chiefly contributed toward a prosperity that has astonished the world shall be continued, or whether our ports shall be thrown wide open to the admission of articles manufactured in countries where whole families herd in a miserable room and slave from early morn until late at night for a pittance that scarce suffices to keep alive the vital spark within their miserable bodies. This is the question which American voters are called upon to decide at the coming election. It is an issue which far overrides in importance the question of whether Gen. Harrison or Mr. Cleveland is to occupy the White House chair—except in so far as the election of one or the other means the triumph or defeat of American labor. It is a question which comes directly home to the hearth of every toiler throughout the land—to himself and to his wife and his children; to the merchant whose customer he is, and to the farmer who raises provisions to sell to that merchant. The political, as well as the social, blunder committed by the Democracy in joining issue upon a question which appeals so closely to the feelings of nine-tenths of the voters, is so stupendous that it has led many to suppose that the Democrats must have some concealed point to make, other than that which appears on the surface, and which, when revealed, would make apparent the method in their madness. Such, however, is apparently not the case—at least the Democratic journals have given no hint of such a development. It appears to be simply a case of the madness which the powers above are traditionally supposed to inflict upon those whom they wish to destroy.

As we have already remarked, the present campaign will be most significant in showing how far such facts as these will lead voters to act independently of previous party affiliation. It is difficult to see how a Democratic workingman can argue himself into that state of mind which will permit him to cast a vote for the destruction of a system that has made the American artisans the envy of his less-favored brethren throughout the world. We do not believe that a majority of them will do so. Self-preservation is the first law of Nature, and when the returns come in the Democrats will find that this law is a very powerful one—stronger, even, that Grover Cleveland.

THE Republican Convention unanimously passed a temperance resolution, going out of the regular order of business to do so. This was done in response to the appeal of some of those noble-hearted ladies who devote their lives to the benefit of their fellow-creatures, and is in marked contrast to the cavalier and discourteous manner in which a similar appeal was treated by the Democrats. Although not so strongly worded as the impracticable extremists would perhaps wish, a resolution of this character, in the platform of a great national party, is of far more practical importance than a column of fervid but impossible resolutions in the platform of a party which has no influence. It also shows that the Republican is the only party from which the friends of temperance can expect encouragement and support in their efforts for the amelioration of mankind.

TEXAS is almost as much worried over a surplus as is the United States. Its bonded indebtedness is only $4,500,000, which the holders will not exchange for the money, preferring to draw the interest, and there is in the State Treasury a surplus of more than $2,000,000. The school fund has a surplus of $16,000,000, for nearly half of which no safe investment can be found. The farmers, to whom the State has been selling its lands on 40 years' time, with only 5 per cent. interest, in the hope that they would be very dilatory about paying the principal, are piling in the money on the overburdened State Treasurer. The counties are doing the same. To add to this misery, the State has 30,000,000 acres of land yet to sell, which are bringing every year higher and higher prices. What an unfortunate country this is, to be sure! They have no such troubles as this in Europe.

A VERY happy solution of the vexed sewage question appears to have been found in the offer of the Southern Pacific Company to grant the city the use of their Santa Monica right of way toward the ocean, for the purpose of laying a sewer pipe. Had the residents of Vernon not forced the question upon the attention of the Council, by appealing to the courts, we presume that nothing would have been done for a year or so. As it is the problem must be settled, and settled quickly, of which we are very glad, as the subject is one which is not confined to Vernon, but intimately affects the welfare of the entire population of Los Angeles. Parks and pavements are very desirable and welcome, but a complete sewage system is of far greater importance.

WE were congratulating ourselves on having escaped it, for this year at least. A great weight had been lifted from our mind, and we breathed more freely. Alas and alack! The awful thing has reappeared. It is the editor of the Monrovia Planet—the same man who raises seedless raisins by inverting the stalks—who drags in the abhorred thing. He says "the political pot is beginning to boil." That is sufficient. Let the perpetrator of this outrage be quietly but firmly conducted to the nearest wood-pile, and that end of him from which this moldy chestnut issued severed from his body, as a warning to callow country editors to refrain from adding unnecessary horrors to the arduous labors of an exchange editor during a national campaign.

ENGLAND is decidedly in favor of the Mills Bill, and, as its provisions are more generally understood by the English people, it grows in popularity. Let the workingmen of America read and ponder the following from the British Hosiery Review, and then decide whether they will vote for Democratic rule and free trade, or vote the Republican ticket, which means protection to American industries and American workingmen:

"To the majority of our readers the question will be of very great importance, as the quantity of articles, manufactured and otherwise, that are now sent from British and Continental ports will be materially increased if these tariff proposals are accepted; indeed, we venture to assert that England will reap the largest share of any advantages that may arise from the adoption of the ideas now advocated by the free-trade party in the United States."

THE Ohio State Journal has been looking into Thurman's claims to statesmanship, and very meagre is the showing which it gives to the Old Roman. It says:

When you come to look into Judge Thurman's claims to "statesmanship," they disappear like the baseless fabric of a vision. The only law with which his name is prominently connected is one relating to the Pacific railroads, and this, as has been shown by actual practice, is utterly inadequate to secure the interests of either the Government or the people. What, then, are the evidences of this gentleman's "statesmanship?" Echo answers, "What?"

THE Portland Oregonian, a paper which has occasionally given evidence of independent tendencies, deduces the following opinion from the recent election in Oregon:

"It is certain from the result that Oregon is a protection State. It may now be accepted as a fixed fact that protection of the industries and products of the State through a tariff adjusted to secure them against foreign competition will be maintained, so far as the votes of the people of Oregon can help to maintain it."

A RESIDENT of this city, who has a group of mines in Arizona, which are producing silver to the value of over $10,000 a month, declares that if Cleveland be reëlected he will shut them down. Silver is now at a price where many owners of silver mines will be forced either to suspend work or materially reduce wages. That doesn't worry the Democrats, however. Silver isn't "English you know." "D—n silver!" said Henry Watterson at St. Louis.

THE unanimity with which Democrats agree that the Republicans ought to have nominated Blaine, is a confession on their part that they are disappointed at Blaine's not being nominated; and their confident prediction that they can beat Harrison savors of the bravado with which a boy whistles while crossing a graveyard.

THE Springfield Union very aptly designates Cleveland as "the Mills-stone of America." Yes, and the Democracy wears this "Mills-stone" about its neck, and its weight will be sufficient to utterly sink the party next November.

AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE PAVILION.—Audran's delightful and gay little opera, La Mascotte, was given at the Pavilion last night. The house was only partially filled, but should be crowded at its two remaining presentations, as none of the operas so far have been better rendered, nor gone off with more spirit. The opera is full of jolly choruses, where the Pykes are always strong, and has more of the purely comic in the dialogue than any in the Pyke repertoire so far. Miss Hattie Moore, by no means a stranger here, was the "Bettina" of the evening, and sang extremely well. Her voice is neither powerful nor striking, but she sings with ease and accompanies her singing with more than the usual appropriateness of action.

Miss Fanny Atkinson as "Fiametta" made of her secondary part all that might be, while Mr. W. F. Rochester and Mr. Alex Clark joined in a unanimous combination of jollity that did them credit, and kept the house in a tremendously good humor.

Mr. Pyke himself sang with more than usual fervor, especially in the pretty solo in the first act, where the young shepherd describes the joys of the possessor of a mascot.

AT TUBNER HALL.—Barry & Fay repeated their Irish comedy-play known as McKenna's Flirtation to a somewhat better house, who enjoyed its fun to the utmost.

To Be Extradited.

LONDON, June 26.—It is deemed certain that the Swiss authorities will obtain the extradition of Billy Porter and Frank Buck, American burglars, who were arrested here a few days ago, on the charge of the great jewelry burglary committed in Zurich. The total value of the booty recovered is about $200,000.

HARRISON AT HOME.

The General Overwhelmed With Congratulations.

His Indianapolis Home Besieged by Delegates and Admirers.

California Sends Him Her Greetings Among the First.

Echoes of the Great Convention—How Sherman Blocked the Game to Nominate Blaine—Public Opinion as Voiced by the Press—All Satisfied.

By Telegraph to the Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The excitement of yesterday, caused by the nomination of Gen. Harrison, continued during today with changes of scenes and incidents. The city is disposed to appreciate the novelty and honor of having a Presidential candidate, in the highest degree, and get all the enjoyment possible out of it. Horn-blowing, which hardly stopped during the night, was resumed early this morning, and has continued all day. The streets have been thronged with people, most of them wearing Harrison badges of some kind. In addition to the city population, a large number have come in on the trains from the surrounding towns to swell the crowds. Gen. Harrison was not at his office during the day, and his house was visited by a large number of people. Autograph seekers were on hand, and relic hunters made a good beginning by chipping away the front fence. An electric light company is putting up some arc lights on the lawn, and local committees are preparing a portable platform for use in the vicinity, should there be occasion for speech-making. All these indications are held by the population to foreshadow a tidal wave of popular enthusiasm, and a repetition of the "Tippecanoe-and-Tyler-too" campaign of 1840.

DELEGATES' CONGRATULATIONS.

The principal event outside of local demonstrations was the arrival of a train from Chicago at 3:30 o'clock p.m., bringing delegates and visitors. The Vermont delegation came solid, with some from Massachusetts and other New England States, and a few from Virginia. The Georgia delegation also arrived. These were met at the depot by a great crowd of people. Fifty open carriages were on hand to receive them. They were accompanied by John C. New and other leading Republicans, and were escorted at once to Gen. Harrison's residence, where an informal reception was held. No speeches were made, but there were many personal introductions and much handshaking. At the conclusion of this most of the party drove to the depot and resumed their journey.

At dusk a double salute of cannon was fired, and then was a general illumination by natural gas and electric lights. A ratification meeting was called in the largest hall of the city, and this was filled with a great outpouring of people.

MORE JUBILATIONS.

A further installment of Chicago pilgrims came on the late train, arriving about 8 o'clock p.m. By this time the streets were ablaze with natural gas illuminations, several arches and pillars of fire shooting their flames in the air. The sidewalks were even more crowded than last night, and the confused din of cheering and horn-blowing was continuous. The crowds surged to and fro in a good-natured way, shouting for Harrison and Morton.

The mass meeting at Tomlinson's Hall was called to order about 8 o'clock by Chairman Griffin of the State Central Committee. There were several thousand persons present. Griffin made a speech, describing the scenes in the convention and the efforts by which Harrison was nominated. He was loudly applauded at various points, and at the conclusion of his speech the audience gave three cheers for the Indiana delegation and their work at Chicago.

He was followed by several other delegates who arrived on the late train, including the California delegation and a portion of the New York men. They were received at the depot and driven to a hotel, where they took supper, and thence to Gen. Harrison's residence, where they had a brief conversation with the candidate.

MORE MESSAGES.

Gen. Harrison has been receiving telegrams and letters from all quarters and from many distinguished persons, besides the hundreds that arrived last night.

In response to a telegram received last night he today sent the following:

To Levi P. Morton, New York: Thanks for your kind message; let me assure you the association of your name with mine on the ticket gives me great satisfaction.

(Signed) BENJAMIN HARRISON.

Gen. Sherman has wired the following to the nominee: "It was proper I should assure you of my great confidence. You were true and faithful when we needed men of action. I believe you yet to be, and you may command me."

Ben Butterworth and McKinley say to Harrison, "We have met you and we are yours."

Many specials from old soldiers, college fraternity associates in Phi Delta Theta, wool-growers and protectionists everywhere have been received.

Gen. Harrison last night received the following from Blaine:

LINLITHGOW, SCOTLAND.

To Gen. Harrison, Indianapolis, Ind.: I congratulate you most heartily upon the work of the National Convention. Your candidacy will recall triumphant enthusiasm and assure the victorious conclusion which followed your grandfather's nomination in 1840. Your election will seal our industrial independence as the declaration of 1776, which bears the honored name of your great-grandfather, sealed our political independence.

(Signed) JAMES G. BLAINE.

HARRISON SPEAKS.

The General Makes Short Speeches to Delegates and Friends.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 26.—[By the Associated Press.] Indianapolis has seldom resented such a scene as was witnessed around Gen. Harrison's residence during the evening and night. It is doubtful if it could be surpassed in any city on the continent. In front of the house had been erected during the day six stands, upon which had been mounted electric lights of great power and brilliancy, turning the darkness of night into the glare of noon, surpassing that of the sun. The adjacent houses were all beautifully decorated, and the lawns lighted by Chinese lanterns of all colors and shapes. In the streets and filling the spacious grounds surrounding the residence were packed several thousand of his friends and neighbors from the city and State. They were happy and shouted every time the General made his appearance, which he frequently did, going down the stairs to the lawn and shaking hands with all who presented themselves. A constant stream of visitors poured into the house, and all were warmly greeted. Several delegations from outlying counties were among those who called, and among those whose visit most deeply affected the General were about 50 of the survivors of his old regiment, the Seventeenth Indiana, accompanied by some of the One Hundred and Twenty-eighth Illinois, which formed part of his brigade. They were introduced by Maj. Grubbs, and in response Gen. Harrison said:

"Comrades: Called as I have been by the national convention of one of the great political parties of this country to be its candidate for President, it will probably be my fortune before the election to receive many delegations, representing various interests and classes of my fellow-citizens, but I am sure that out of them all there will come none whose coming will touch my heart so deeply as this visit from my comrades of the Seventeenth Indiana and those scattered members of other regiments that constituted the First Brigade of the Third Division of the Twentieth Army Corps. I feel that in this campaign upon which I am entering, and which will undoubtedly cause careful scrutiny, perhaps unkind and even malicious assaults, as to all that relates to my conspicuous but loyal service with you in the army, I may confidently leave my honor in the hands of the surviving members of the Seventeenth Indiana, whatever their political faith may be. [Cries of 'That is true, General,' and 'Yes.'] May I ask you now, for I am too deeply moved by this visit to speak as I would desire, that each one will enter this door that will always be open with a hearty welcome to you, and let me take you by the hand." [Cheering.]

After the veterans had left, the crowd patiently waited the coming of the California delegates. They did not appear until 10 o'clock, but the crowd was there when they came. The delegation was headed by a committee of citizens who presented the visitors to the General and Mrs. Harrison. The hour was late, and the visit was necessarily brief, and Gen. Harrison merely exchanged greetings with the visitors. Chairman Estee was presented to the crowd and excused himself from making a speech. During the call of the California men the chairman of the delegation presented Gen. Harrison a handsomely-engraved gold medal. When the California delegation left, the General came out, as the crowd showed no signs of dispersing, and said:

"Fellow Citizens, Ladies and Gentlemen: I am very deeply impressed and gratified with this magnificent demonstration of your respect. No man can be so deeply honored by any convention or by any decoration which any of the authorities of the Government can bestow as by the respect and confidence of those who live near him. My heart is touched by this demonstration which my fellow-citizens have given me of their personal respect for me. I do not, however, accept this manifestation of interest as wholly due to myself. The great bulk of those who are assembled here tonight manifest rather their interest in those political principles which have been proclaimed by their representatives in the National Convention of the Republican party. But I will not discuss any of these high issues tonight, because I am glad to know that among those who are gathered here, and among those who have paid me the compliment of their presence in my home, there are many citizens of Indianapolis who differ with me politically. I would not, therefore, if it was otherwise proper, mar this occasion by a discussion of any political topic. I am glad to have an opportunity to return my sincere and heartfelt thanks to the Indiana delegation and to that band of devoted friends who gathered about them in Chicago. When I saw in the newspaper press of the East and of the West the encomiums that were passed by correspondents upon the deportment and character of the representatives of Indiana at Chicago, I was greatly pleased. When I heard of their affectionate devotion, of their discreet and wise presentation of the claims of Indiana, I was still further gratified, and if the result of the convention had been as it well might have been, that individuals had only been considered in the contest that was there waged, and a selection for this high place of some other than myself, I should have felt that the devoted interest, wise and faithful presentation by the Indiana delegation of the Indiana situation, was such that failure to yield to their arguments could still have left me crowned with the brightest crown that can be placed upon mortal's brow—the affection and confidence and discreet support of my friends from Indiana. [Cries of 'Good, good.'] I do not feel at all that in selecting the candidate who was chosen, regard was had simply to individual equipment and qualifications for the duties of this high office. I feel sure that if the convention had felt free to regard these things only, some other of those distinguished men, old-time leaders of the Republican party, Blaine, Sherman or Allison, or some of the others named, would have been chosen in preference to myself. I feel that it was the situation in Indiana and its relation to the campaign that was impending, rather than the personal equipment or qualification of the candidate that was chosen, that turned the choice of the convention in our direction. We are here tonight to thank those members of the convention who have done us the honor to pay our capital a visit tonight, not only for this visit, but for the support and interest they took in Indiana's candidacy in the convention at Chicago. I thank you again for gathering here tonight. I am sure that in this demonstration you give evidence that interest in this campaign will not flag until the election has determined the result of the contest, and I feel sure that my fellow-citizens, that joined the contest of great principles and armies which are to fight out the contest before the people, will encamp upon the high plains of principle and not in the townships of personal defamation or detraction. [Cries of 'Hear, hear,' and 'Good, good.'] Again I thank you for this compliment of your presence here tonight, and bid you good-night." [Great cheering.]

The General then retired, and the crowd slowly dispersed.

THE COAST'S TRIBUTE.

CALIFORNIA'S MESSAGE TO THE NOMINEES.

The Golden State's Electoral Vote Pledged for Harrison and Morton—Leading Republicans Delighted with the Ticket.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—[Special.] The Republican State Central Committee forwarded the following dispatches this afternoon:

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 26, 1888.

Hon. Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, Ind.: At the largest meeting ever held in this city, the Republican party last evening most enthusiastically ratified your nomination as our candidate for President, and gave every assurance that the electoral vote of California will be cast for Harrison and Morton.

M. D. BORUCK, Chairman pro tem.
J. STEPPACHER, Secretary.

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE,
SAN FRANCISCO, June 26, 1888.

Hon. Levi P. Morton: With an enthusiasm that never has been surpassed at a political gathering in this city the Republican party last evening ratified your nomination as our candidate for Vice-President, and promises to add the electoral vote of California to that of the Empire State, now rendered certain for Harrison and Morton.

M. D. BORUCK, Chairman pro tem.
J. STEPPACHER, Secretary.

GEN. SWIFT ENTHUSIASTIC.

At the ratification meeting at the Mechanics' Pavilion last night Mr. Boruck read the following letter from Hon. John F. Swift:

To Gen. W. L. Barnes, Chairman Republican Ratification Meeting—DEAR SIR: I am very sorry that the state of my health does not allow me to be present at the meeting of the Republicans of San Francisco, called to ratify the party nominations for President and Vice-President just made at Chicago. It will be a glorious occasion, for today the American Nation forms in line and takes the first step in a grand triumphal march back to a free popular Government, that is to have no pause, no halt, till the people come to their own again. I cordially join in the ratification of Gen. Benjamin Harrison and Hon. Levi P. Morton for President and Vice-President and predict their election by our old war time majorities; and I heartily join with the meeting in cheers for Tippecanoe and Morton, too, and for the grand cause of protection to America and Americans.

(Signed) JOHN F. SWIFT.

INTERVIEW WITH CITIZENS.

D. S. Richardson, late of the postoffice, said today: "Harrison is my man. I do not believe they could have chosen a better man. He is the idol of Indiana, and with him we are sure of that State. I have spoken with a good many people and there seems to be very general satisfaction over the nomination. I think we are safe with him—eminently safe. I tell you there is a feeling of relief among our people that Blaine has not been nominated. I am just from the Custom-house, and there was universal satisfaction among the brokers."

Alexander Mackie, cashier of the Atlantic and Pacific, said: "I have spoken to a great many people today, some of our heaviest merchants, and the sole remark is: 'Well, it is not so much the man now as this free trade. This free-trade business will kill any man that advocates it, and Grover Cleveland is bound to be defeated. Harrison is a good man, certainly. With Levi P. Morton of New York, it is a team that will be hard to beat.'"

United States Attorney Hillborn was overjoyed: "Ah, he is the man we wanted. Now we are sure to come out all right. He can carry Indiana. He is a good man. You may be sure of that. If Blaine had secured the nomination we might have been defeated, but as it is now, I am sure we are safe on this trip."

Samuel Shortridge is positive that Harrison will carry the day. He said: "The convention could not have done better. It was the very wisest thing they could have done. He will carry Indiana, and I think that before long you will find that he will be a very strong man on this coast. It only requires a little explanation, and Harrison will be accepted as a great man here. We are on the right road to success now."

M. D. Boruck said: "I am satisfied now that Grover Cleveland will have to vacate the White House. Harrison will carry Indiana, and with Morton on the ticket we shall sweep the field. We are on the winning side this time."

"I consider the ticket a strong one," said W. T. Higgins. "The convention could not have made a mistake by nominating any one of the candidates before it. The campaign will be upon a sharply-defined issue, from which the Democracy cannot escape and to which the Republicans will gladly pin their faith. In a campaign that is made on sentiment, it is hard work to convert the Democrat to Republicanism, but in an issue like the present, where he can see that to stand by his party is to vote to lower his wages, he does not need much argument to convince him that he should cast his ballot for protection and the Republican candidates. As to Mr. Cleveland, I regard him as the greatest politician in the land. He not only renominated himself, but named the Vice-President, wrote the party platform and provided for the election of the Republican nominee, whoever he might be. Grover is a great man." W.

MORE RATIFICATION MEETINGS.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The Republican ratification meeting tonight was the largest and most enthusiastic in the history of San Bernardino county. There were visiting delegations from Riverside, Colton and Redlands. The procession was the largest ever seen here. Five thousand men were in line, with five bands. There was a large and enthusiastic mass meeting at the opera-house, and an overflow meeting in front of the Index office.

SAN DIEGO, June 26.—The Republicans held a ratification meeting tonight, with a torchlight procession and speaking in Louis's Opera-house. Much enthusiasm was manifested, considering that the first choice was not selected.

CONVENTION ECHOES.

HOW THE BLAINE BOOM CAME TO COLLAPSE.

The California Delegates Sleep Late After Their Labors, but Finally Leave the City by the Lake—Tone of the Press.

CHICAGO, June 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The following is published here: "This is perhaps a good time for some secret history of the campaign. The whole Blaine programme in convention was made before the convention began. There was a hitch in California, and this hitch was one of the causes of the break-down of the whole scheme. It was intended that Blaine's name should not be heard until, exhausted, the convention would turn to him as a last resort. California spoiled this by forcing the Blaine issue before the delegates from the first, and by its officious loyalty knocked down the whole elaborate card castle, which Elkins had constructed. It was after California's mutiny was seen to be a serious and persistent menace that a message was received in Chicago which laid down the whole line of the Blaine campaign which the Blaine managers have followed. The message was not from Blaine himself, but from one who knew his mind, and it said that Blaine would accept the nomination if it came after complete and manifest failure to nominate any other candidate, and if other candidates joined in the request that he should accept the nomination so offered him. To produce both these results Elkins and his lieutenants labored. It violates no confidence now to state that instead, as was publicly announced, of having 423 votes for Blaine, there were more than 500 Saturday afternoon. All the plans were laid to make Blaine the choice, but one thing, and one thing alone, was wanting, and that was John Sherman's consent to join in the call on Blaine to run. It was said that his consent had been gained and that everything had been fixed. The ticket was to be Blaine and Harrison. When Sherman finally determined that he would not go into the scheme, even for a cabinet position and great patronage, the Blaine camp was for a time in great confusion, but finally a new plan took shape. Sherman had killed Blaine and Blaine's friends would kill Sherman. Harrison was the weapon used. On Sunday night the Sherman men, believing Blaine's scheme off, flattered themselves with the idea that they had a chance for their man, but Sherman had lost the game before midnight, and yesterday morning he had as clear an idea of the situation as any one could have. It was explained to him, but he would not move, and so Harrison was named, and the day's work was done."

INTERVIEW WITH MORTON.

How He Received the News of His Nomination.

RHINEBECK (N. Y.), June 26.—[By the Associated Press.] When Harrison's nomination for President became an assured fact, a reporter interviewed Morton, whose nomination for second place on the ticket then seemed assured.

"How do you regard Harrison's nomination," queried the reporter?

"I regard Harrison's nomination as the strongest that could have been made by the convention. It will place Indiana in the Republican column, and with the Republican party in New York united as it is today, I cannot for a moment doubt the Republican victory in November. Beyond this expression regarding the effect of the nomination of Gen. Harrison, you must excuse me from any further response to your questions."

At half past 9 news of Morton's nomination for Vice-President was received here. Almost in an instant the streets were filled with an enthusiastic crowd, and the boom of cannon and rattle of firecrackers resounded in every direction. The reporter was the first to apprise Morton of his nomination. That gentleman was sitting on the spacious veranda in the rear of the Huntington mansion when the reporter mounted the broad steps leading to the entrance.

"Mr. Morton," said the reporter, "I may be the first to announce that you were nominated for Vice-President by the Republican Convention in Chicago on the first ballot."

"Is that so? Isn't that nice?" said Mrs. Morton, who was at his side in an instant. As he tore a telegram open Mr. Morton's fingers trembled somewhat, but his face was as impassive as ever, after reading the telegram, which added assurance to what the reporter had already told him. The banker took an easy chair and asked the reporter to sit down.

"May I ask if you will accept the nomination?"

"I certainly could not decline the nomination with which I have been honored by representatives of the Republican party in convention assembled," was Mr. Morton's reply. At this moment prominent people from the vicinity began to flock in, and the nominee for Vice-President and his charming wife were overwhelmed with congratulations till late in the evening.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Republican and Democratic Views of the Ticket.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The Journal says of the nomination: "The nomination is a complete vindication of the wisdom and patriotism of the largest, most earnest and most enthusiastic convention ever held. The nomination of Harrison and Morton is the happiest solution that could possibly have been made of the great political problem. If it was not so clearly the result of human wisdom we should call it inspiration."

The Sentinel (Dem.) says: "Gen. Harrison's nomination is not in any sense a strong one. He is lacking in most of the qualities which combine to make a great party leader and a popular candidate before the people. Gen. Harrison cannot carry Indiana and he cannot be elected. He is identified with the cause of monopoly, and in this campaign monopoly is going to be defeated."

PHILADELPHIA, June 27.—The Inquirer says: "The Government will be safe in Harrison's hands."

The Times says: "Altogether the ticket is dull, respectable and unobjectionable."

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—The Republican says: "The country is to be congratulated on the make-shift nominee."

The Globe-Democrat says: "The ticket will undoubtedly prove strong and popular."

LOUISVILLE, June 26.—Henry Watterson, in the Courier-Journal, says the Democracy have escaped a serious danger. The strategy of the situation was Harrison and Depew.

CINCINNATI, June 26.—The Commercial-Gazette strongly indorses the nomination.

The Enquirer says: "From the beginning to the end Blaine's friends had their own way and dominated the result."

FOREIGN COMMENT.

LONDON, June 26.—The Times attributes the failure of the Republicans to nominate Blaine to his absence from the country, but adds: "As he is no friend to England, we can afford to regard his defeat with considerable equanimity."

CONVENTION ECHOES.

Californians on a Pilgrimage to Harrison's Home.

CHICAGO, June 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The California delegation left on a special train for Indianapolis at 12 o'clock today to visit Senator Harrison. They were to have gone at 8:30 this morning, but that hour found them yet in bed, and when a messenger arrived at the Leland with the information that their train was waiting, they voted that it stay waiting with an unanimity equaled only by their solid vote for James G. Blaine. The delegation will return to Chicago by special train tonight after an interview with Harrison, and here they will disband. What the programme will be is not settled on. Editor de Young and others will probably go to New York and make the acquaintance of Levi P. Morton. Another detachment is considering a trip to Lake Minnetonka, while others will return home tomorrow. They are all enthusiastic Harrison men, and said that he would be elected and will carry the Pacific Coast States.

They expected that during the campaign Blaine will take the stump in California and Oregon for the Republican ticket, and that through this influence they will overcome any lingering prejudice that there may be against Harrison in the minds of western people.

The subcommittee of the National Committee of the Republican League of the United States held a meeting this morning. It was decided that a meeting of the Executive Committee and of the subcommittee should be called to meet in New York on Wednesday, July 11th, and that the presidents of the various State leagues be notified to meet with the league for conference. The meeting is called in order to more clearly define the work of the league and to formulate a plan of campaign, to be pursued by Republican League clubs of the States. The committee officially requests all Republican clubs in the United States to call meetings and ratify the platform, so that the work of the campaign may begin uniformally throughout the country.

A PROPER TIME TO NOTIFY.

A meeting of the committee of the Republican National Convention which is to notify the nominees for Presidency and Vice-Presidency of the action of the convention, was held this morning. Morris M. Estee was made chairman and Capt. John C. Dougherty of Tennessee secretary. On motion of Gov. Root of Arkansas the time for notifying the candidates was left to the discretion of the chair. Chairman Estee then decided it would be a very appropriate time to notify Gen. Harrison of his nomination at noon of the 4th of July. The committee then adjourned to meet at 10 a.m., July 4th, at Indianapolis.

BLAINE SAYS THEY LIE.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The Tribune prints the following from its London correspondent, G. F. Smalley: The following dispatch was received from Blaine at Edinburgh today: "Dispatches from the New York Evening Post editorial room to the London Daily News about Blaine and the Chicago Convention are marvels of mendacity and malice. The American public would be astounded to read them. Their falsehood will be exposed in due time."

DELEGATES UPSET.

TIFFIN (O.), June 26.—The fast train on the Baltimore and Ohio, loaded with Chicago delegates, ran into a freight train near Chicago Junction, this morning, while going at the rate of 40 miles an hour. The engine, baggage car and freight cars were demolished. The engineer was fatally hurt. The passengers were scratched and bruised. All were taken to Columbus.

GEN. SHERMAN'S VIEWS.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Gen. Sherman says: "I think there could not be a more powerful ticket than Harrison and Morton. Every man who fought for the preservation of this Government should vote for these men. Harrison, I think, will be as strong as Blaine would have been. Of course, I would rather my brother John had got it, but the Republican party should be the judge and select its own standard-bearer."

ALGER PREDICTS VICTORY.

DETROIT, June 26.—At the ratification last night Gen. Alger was given an enthusiastic reception, and predicted victory.

A BOURBON BRAY.

The Democracy Goes Through the Form

Of Telling Cleveland That He Is Their Selection

To Lead the Cobden Club's Forlorn Hope Next November.

Meeting of the National Democratic Committee—Committees Appointed to Conduct the Campaign—That Gavel Presented to Pat Collins, Begorra.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The Democratic Notification Committee, accompanied by the Democratic National Committee and the Columbia Democratic Club, went to the White House at 2 o'clock this afternoon to formally notify Cleveland of his nomination. They were received in the east room by Cleveland. There were also present Mrs. Cleveland, Rev. W. N. Cleveland, the President's brother, and members of the Cabinet and wives, and Speaker Carlisle.

Gen. Collins of Massachusetts delivered the formal address of notification saying:

"Mr. Cleveland: We come as a committee authorized and instructed by the National Democratic Convention, recently held at St. Louis, to give you formal notice of its action in naming you for the office of President of the United States during the next four years. It would ill become the occasion or your presence to express at length the full meaning and significance of that great assemblage. Its expression will be found and heard elsewhere and otherwise from now until that day in November when intelligent people will record their approval of your great services as Chief Magistrate. We beg to congratulate you upon this hearty and unanimous indorsement of your course as President by the great historic party to which in all the days of your manhood you have belonged, and to congratulate the country upon the assured continuance of your wise and patriotic administration."

FORMAL NOTIFICATION.

Upon concluding his remarks, Gen. Collins introduced Charles D. Jacob of Kentucky, who read the following letter of notification:

WASHINGTON, June 26, 1888.

To the Hon. Grover Cleveland of New York—SIR: The delegates to the National Democratic Convention, representing every State and Territory of the Union, having assembled in the city of St. Louis for the purpose of the nomination of candidates for the office of President and Vice-president of the United States, it has become the honorable and pleasing duty of this committee to formally announce to you that, without ballot, you were by acclamation chosen as the standard-bearer of the Democratic party for the chief executiveship of this country, at the election to be held in November next. Great as such a distinction is under any circumstances, it is most flattering and profound, when it is remembered that you have been selected as your own successor to an office, the duties of which, always onerous, have been rendered of an extraordinarily sensitive, difficult and delicate nature, because of the change of political party and methods, after 24 years of uninterrupted domination. This exaltation is, if possible, added to by the fact that the declaration of principles, based upon your national message to the Congress of the United States relative to tariff reduction and diminuation of the expenses of the Government, throws down a direct and defiant challenge for an exacting scrutiny of the administration of executive power, which four years ago was committed to the party's trust by the election of Grover Cleveland as President of the United States, and for the most searching inquiry concerning its fidelity and devotion to the pledges which then invited the suffrages of the people. An engrossed copy of that platform, adopted without one dissenting voice, is herewith tendered to you. In carrying, sir, to you the responsible trust which has been confided to them, this committee begs, individually and collectively, to express the great pleasure which they felt at the results attending the National Convention of the Democratic party, and to offer to you their best wishes for your official and personal success and happiness. We have the honor, sir, to be your servants." [Signed by all members of the committee.]

Thomas S. Pettit, secretary of the Notification Committee, then presented Mr. Cleveland with a handsomely engrossed copy of the platform adopted at the National Democratic Convention.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY.

The President, in reply, said: "I cannot but be profoundly impressed when I see about me messengers of the national Democracy bearing its summons to duty. The political party to which I owe allegiance both honors and commands me. It places in my hand its proud standard and bids me bear it high at the front in the battle which it wages bravely because conscious of right, and confidently because its trust is in the people, and soberly, because it comprehends the obligations which success imposes. The message which you bring awakens within me the liveliest sense of personal gratitude and satisfaction, and the honor which you tender me is in itself so great there might well be no room for any other sentiment; and yet I cannot rid myself of grave, serious thoughts, when I remember that party supremacy not alone is involved in the conflict which we press upon, but that we struggle to secure the cherished institutions of welfare and happiness for a nation of free men. Familiarity with the great office which I hold has but added to my apprehension of its sacred character, and the consecration demanded of him who assumes its immense responsibilities. It is the repository of the people's will, and the power within its vision should be exercised for the protection and welfare of the humblest citizens, and with quick ear I should catch from the remotest corner of the land the plea of the people for justice and right. For the sake of the people, he who holds this office of theirs should resist every encroachment upon its legitimate functions and for the sake of the integrity and usefulness of the office it should be kept near to the people and be administered in full sympathy with their wants and needs. This occasion reminds me most vividly of when, four years ago, I received a message from my party similar to that which you now deliver. With all that has passed since that day I can truly say that the feeling of awe with which I heard the summons then is intensified tenfold when repeated now. Four years ago I knew our chief executive office, if not carefully guarded, might drift little by little away from the people to whom it belonged and become a perversion of all it ought to be, but did not know how much its moorings had already been loosened. I knew four years ago how well devised were the principles of true Democracy for the successful operation of a government by the people and for the people, but I did not know how absolutely necessary their application then was for restoration to the people of their safety and prosperity. I knew then of abuses of extravagance in the management of public affairs, but I did not know their numerous forms nor the tenacity of their grasp. I knew then something of the bitterness of partisan obstructions, but I did not know how bitter, how reckless and how shameless it could be. I knew, too, that the American people were patriotic and just, but I did not know how grandly they loved their country nor how noble and generous they were. I shall not dwell upon the acts and policy of the administration now drawing to its close. Its record is open to every citizen of the land, and yet I will not be denied the privilege of asserting at this time that in the exercise of the functions of the high trust confided to me I have yielded obedience only to the Constitution and obligation of my oath of office. I have done those things which, in the light of the understanding God has given me, seemed most conducive to the welfare of my countrymen and the promotion of good government. I would not if I could, for myself nor for you, avoid a single consequence of a fair interpretation of my course. It but remains for me to say to you, and through you to the Democracy of the Nation, that I accept the nomination with which they have honored me, but that I will in due time signify such acceptance in the usual formal manner."

The President's remarks were made in an earnest and emphatic manner, and were frequently interrupted by applause. This closed the speech-making, and then all present proceeded to the state dining-room and partook of light refreshments.

Afterward the committee became the guests of the Columbia Club, and were driven about the city. The committee will leave for Columbus on Wednesday, and notify Thurman on Thursday.

THE UNTERRIFIED.

Meeting of the National Democratic Committee.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The National Democratic Committee met at 10:30 o'clock tonight and proceeded to the election of permanent chairman. Mr. Barbour of Virginia nominated William H. Barnum of Connecticut, and the motion was seconded by Mr. Tarpey of California and others, whereupon Mr. Barnum was elected by a rising vote. S. H. Sherin of Indiana and E. D. Dickinson of New York were elected secretary and assistant secretary. Charles J. Canda was reëlected treasurer. The chairman was authorized to appoint an executive committee of 21 members to take charge of the affairs of the campaign and also a committee of seven, to be known as the campaign committee, which committee was empowered to select such persons, not members of the committee, as they may deem necessary to aid them in the campaign work. The chairman was made ex-officio chairman of the committee of 21.

On motion of Mr. Patterson of Colorado, the silver gavel presented to the National Democratic Convention by the Colorado delegation, and now in the custody of the National Committee, was presented to Gen. Collins, chairman of the convention.

A committee was appointed to amend the constitution of the Democratic clubs of Baltimore.

A large party of prospectors engaged a number of Indians to carry their baggage from the head of canoe navigation to the summit of Chihicat Pass. This enraged the Chimeat Indians, who claim a monopoly of this business. A hand to hand fight took place, and numbers on both sides were wounded. The second chief of the Chimeats was killed. The tribe then followed Sitka George, the opposing chief, to the white settlement and stabbed him that night. The whites feared a general massacre and started Indian messengers to Junan for the Government office. The messengers were captured, but the white men subsequently reached Junan. MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.), June 26.—[By the Associated Press.] A 15-round glove contest between Patsey Cardiff and Pat Killen, both claiming to be the champion heavy weight of the Northwest, drew an audience of 2500 people to Washington Rink this evening. The fight was to be 15 rounds, Marquis of Queensberry rules, with two-ounce gloves, the winner to have 75 and the loser 25 per cent of the gate receipts, and the winner to be declared champion of the Northwest.

The men entered the ring at 9:25 o'clock, there being no preliminaries. Cardiff weighed 173 pounds and Killen 190. John Donaldson and John Lannon seconded Cardiff, while Pat McCarlin and John Clark were behind Killen. Joseph Mannix of Minneapolis was referee. Time was called at 9:37.

It was a plucky fight. As the men advanced to shake hands, they showed splendid muscular development. Cardiff led, and pushed the fighting until near the end of the fourth round, when a lucky blow from Killen's right laid him on the ground partly dazed. He tried to rise, but could not within the required 10 seconds, and the fight was decided for Killen. The fight lasted a few seconds less than 15 minutes.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26. — Young Mitchell, champion middle-weight of the Pacific Coast, and Tom Cleary met at the rooms of the California Athletic Club tonight, and fought 30 hard rounds, when Cleary was knocked out by a blow on the jaw. The fight was in Mitchell's favor from the start. Cleary was badly punished. His lips were cut and swollen, and his eyes nearly closed.

FIFTIETH CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON (D. C.), June 26.—By the Associated Press.] Senate.—The Senate today discussed the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill, but no quorum was present, and the Senate soon adjourned.

House.—The House resumed the consideration of the Public Land Bill. Most of the amendments which were adopted were in the nature of correction.

Mr. Hermann of Oregon offered one, however, which was accepted, allowing entrymen six instead of three months in which to erect habitable dwellings.

There was a long discussion over an amendment by Mr. Weaver of Iowa, reserving the title in the Government to alternate strips of public land along water courses and the seashore. It was rejected.

The Cold Water Party.

SYRACUSE (N. Y.), June 26.—The State Prohibition Convention met today. Frank E. Baldwin was made temporary chairman. In the course of his speech he said of the Chicago convention: "The Republicans met and adopted a platform. It was long enough, it was broad enough, it took in most everything. It reached from Brazil to Ireland, but forgot that Alfred Griffin was there, and the three planks proposed to meet the prohibition question were in some way lost. They forgot the temperance plank, and so adopted one yesterday before they adjourned, a resolution which, after its reading by the speaker, was vigorously hissed."

The speaker said: "We ought to accept the resolution for just what it is worth—nothing." The usual committees were then appointed, and a recess was taken.

Killed by a Collision.

SHAMOKIN (Pa.), June 26.—This evening, on the Pennsylvania and Schuylkill Valley Railroad, at Cable City, a freight train was shifting cars, when a gravel train bound for Shamokin ran into the rear end of it, and 10 out of 11 laborers, who were seated on the front car of the gravel train were buried in the wreck. When assistance arrived there were six dead men, horribly mangled, and four others badly injured. It is not believed that the latter can live. They were taken from the wreck. The victims are all Hungarians, and their names are yet unknown.

A Sheridan Bulletin.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The following is tonight's bulletin: "Gen. Sheridan's condition continues the same as for some days. It is proposed, unless an unfavorable change should occur, to remove him to his cottage at Nonquit, Mass. It is possible that he will leave Washington on Thursday next."

College Oarsmen.

NEW LONDON (Ct.), June 26.—The two-mile race between the Yale and the University of Pennsylvania freshman crews was rowed this evening over the Thames River course, and proved to be the most exciting freshman race pulled here for years. Yale won by three lengths, after a hard struggle, in 11:32. Pennsylvania's time was 11:41.

THE RACES.

A Row on the Track at Sheepshead Bay.

NEW YORK, June 26.—[By the Associated Press.] The races at Sheepshead Bay today resulted as follows:

Nine furlongs—Tattler won, King Crab second, Grover Cleveland third. Time 1:58¾.

Three-quarters of a mile—Diablo won, Sam Wood second, Aurania third. Time, 1:17.

Mile and three-sixteenths—Tristam won, Tea Tray second, Charley Drew third. Time, 20:6. Tristam and Tea Tray had a terrific fight all the way down the home stretch. Tea Tray steadily gained on the leader, and a couple of strides from the judges' line he apparently headed him. As they passed the judges' line he appeared to be a head in front of Tristam, and there were loud cheers and shouts of "Tea Tray wins." A moment later Tristam's number was hung up and immediately the cheers and shouts were changed to hisses. An angry crowd surrounded the judges' stand and clamored for a reversal of the decision. This was denied, and some of the crowd became so demonstrative that a squad of police had to be invoked to quiet them. Lucius Appleby is said to have won $30,000 on this race. In consequence of this decision the Dwyers scratched all their horses in the following races, and it is reported that they intend taking all their horses from the track. This action has caused a sensation.

Mile and a furlong—Euros won, Favor second, Dumboyne third. Time, 1:58.

One and one-quarter miles, Lelogas won, The Bourbon second, Kaloolah third. Time, 2:14.

Mile and three-sixteenths, on the grass—Lancaster had a walk-over.

CHICAGO, June 26.—The weather was chilly and the track good. The attendance was 6000.

For all ages, one mile and a sixteenth—Badge won, Santaleen second, Trust third. Time 1:49¼.

For maiden 3-year-olds, one mile—Yum Yum won, Montpelier second, Rectus third. Time 1:45¼.

For maiden 3-year-olds, one mile—Bohemian won, Keynote second, Range third. Time 1:44¼.

Lakeside stakes, sweepstakes for 2-year-olds, $1000 added, five furlongs—Princess Bowling won, Sonoma second, Minnie Palmer third. Time 1:02½.

One mile and a quarter—Cary won, Ed Mack second, Lela May third. Time 2:09.

For 3-year-olds and upward, three-quarters of a mile—Orderly won, Luke Dart second, Jacobin third. Time 1:16.

No Wonder.

The "bloody shirt" is a garment that was worn by a man who was killed by a Democrat. No wonder the Democratic party is stricken with horror whenever that shirt is held up. It is evidence of a crime that will stand against it for all time.

Sewing Machine.

OUR PREMIUM HIGH-ARM SEWING-MACHINE!

TESTIMONIALS:

Following are letters received by the Times-Mirror Company from subscribers who have purchased the Premium Sewing-machine through us:

"GIVING PERFECT SATISFACTION."

J. W. Ross, Pasadena, writes: The Times-Mirror Sewing-machine is giving perfect satisfaction; in my opinion it is as good as any $65 machine. I have not done any heavy work on it yet, but I think it will do it all right.

"HIGHLY PLEASED WITH IT."

Mrs. Edwin Brown, Los Angeles: In reply to yours of 26th would state that I am highly pleased with the Premium Sewing-machine I received with the MIRROR. Gives every satisfaction; so easy to learn how to manage; does such excellent work; in fact cannot praise it too much, and would not take twice the amount it cost me.

"THE MORE WE USE IT THE BETTER WE LIKE IT."

Mrs. S. A Ware, Pasadena: I have used your sewing-machine since last July. The more we use it the better we like it. On fine and heavy work it is splendid. We have tried the attachment. In fact it goes ahead of our advertisement so far.

"LIKE IT BETTER THAN THE $125 SINGER."

Joseph Wilson, Los Angeles: The machine gives entire satisfaction. My wife likes it better than the $125 Singer that it has replaced.

"GIVES GOOD SATISFACTION."

S. W True, East Los Angeles: We have the High-Arm Machine and use it for light family sewing. It gives good satisfaction.

"RUNS SMOOTH—AND SEWS EVERYTHING BUT BUTTONS."

William F. Wade, Los Angeles: The report of the chief engineer of the sewing department of my domestic establishment is to the effect that the sewing-machine lately furnished by you for $22 arrived in good order and in due time, and has given entire satisfaction. It runs lightly and with very little noise and performs to perfection all kinds of sewing work with the exception of buttons. [When the freight is paid to Los Angeles by the Times-Mirror Company the price is $25.50.]

"TRIED 'EM ALL AND LIKES THE MIRROR MACHINE BEST."

William L. Price, 218 Temple street, Los Angeles: My wife tried several $75 machines, and chose the Mirror Premium Sewing-machine as an equal to the best in the market, for one-fourth of the money. It is perfect in all particulars, and admired by all who see it. My wife has been using it several months, and we both cheerfully recommend it to the public as represented.

"SAME IN WORKMANSHIP AND MATERIAL AS THE HIGH-PRICED ARTICLE."

C. E. Spencer, Los Angeles: Having sold hundreds of the Remington Sewing-machines for $65, which you are now offering with the WEEKLY MIRROR at $22, [$25.50 when freight is paid to Los Angeles], I wish to say that the machine you offer is identically the same as the high-priced article, both as to material, workmanship and capacity. Being a resident here and an experienced sewing-machine man, I will take pleasure in instructing any one in working the machine, in this place or vicinity.

"IS DELIGHTED WITH IT."

Mrs. J. W. Stringfield, Pomona: The High-arm Mirror Sewing-machine came in good time, in excellent condition, without scratch or blemish, and I am delighted with it. We believe the machine is all that you recommend it to be, and think it a rare opportunity for those who may want a machine to get a first-class one cheap.

"PERFECT IN EVERY RESPECT."

Mrs. E. C. Cranston, Norwalk: The High-arm Premium Machine arrived in prime condition, and is perfect in every respect. Freight $2.50, with first cost added, making $22.50 for as good a machine as is usually sold through agents for $75. Well pleased. [$25.50 when freight is paid to Los Angeles.]

"VERY MUCH PLEASED WITH IT."

Mrs. Martha Allison, Downey: I am very much pleased with my machine as far as I have used it, and feel safe in saying that I have just as good a machine as if I had given $65 for it. Shall advise any of my friends to try this before buying any other, as I think it is fully as good as represented.

"RUNS LIGHT AND EASY — DOES ITS WORK WELL."

S. M. Shaw, Pasadena: I can say in regard to the machine that it is well liked. It runs light and easy, and does its work well. It is a very cheap machine at the price you furnish it.

"EQUAL TO THE BEST SHE EVER USED."

William T. Parcel, Compton: The High-arm Sewing-machine ordered from your company was received in good order, and Mrs Parcel says it is equal to the best of any other kind she has ever used.

"PROVES SATISFACTORY."

W. F. Beadley, San Gabriel: The sewing machine we received through your office proves satisfactory.

"WIFE THINKS IT THE BEST SHE EVER USED."

J. W. McLellan, Eustin City: We received Premium Sewing-machine through your office, and my wife thinks it the best she ever used; consequently are well pleased.

"SUPERIOR IN SOME RESPECTS TO THE BEST."

S. A Mattison, Los Angeles: My wife and daughter are well pleased with your Times-Mirror Sewing-machine. They have used several of the best makes of machines, and yet say your machine is superior in some respects to those they have used, and in no way inferior. They were at first afraid, as many are, no doubt, that it is too cheap to be first-class, but are now satisfied that it is as good as machines costing three or four times as much.

"TIGHTENED THE SCREW AND SHE RUNS ALL RIGHT."

L. A. Myers, Newhall: Yours of the 1st inst. received. Will say in reply that soon after I wrote you I discovered the cause of the trouble. The little tension screw in the shuttle had worked loose and was nearly out, and the shuttle thread, in sewing fast, would catch on the screw and break. I tightened the screw and it now works like a charm; no more breaking thread or irregularity of stitch.

"ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS THEY EVER MADE."

Mrs. U. L. Shaffer, Orange: We received our High-armed Sewing-machine in good order, and I am very much pleased with it, and consider it one of the best investments we ever made. It is nicely finished, and runs strong and light, doing nice work. Any one needing a good machine I do not think can do better than invest $22 in the machine and MIRROR. [or $25.50 when the Company pays freight to Los Angeles.]

"MORE THAN SATISFIED AND GLADLY RECOMMENDS IT."

Martha M. Shaffer, Orange: I thank you for sending to me for testimonials, as I have set my new machine in the parlor without even threading it, as I was very busy and had a good machine ready for work and used to running. So I did not take time to do anything with the new one until I received your letter. Then I brought mine and went to running it to test it. I was more than satisfied, and gladly recommend it to those who need a machine. I think I would have gained time to have used it long ago.

"EQUAL TO ANY $65 MACHINE."

Mrs. A. W. Worm, Los Angeles: For the benefit of those who stand in need of a good sewing-machine, I will say that after using the Premium Machine for about four months, I find it equal to any $65 machine I have seen.

HAS THIS AN EQUAL?

A High-grade Sewing Machine

AT MANUFACTURERS' PRICES.

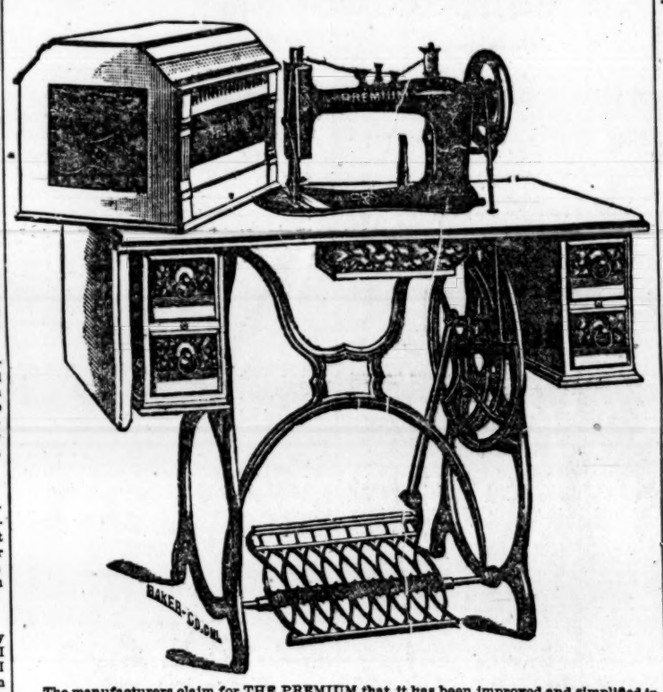
THE "MIRROR" PREMIUM High-Arm SEWING MACHINE!

Half Cabinet, Five Drawer, $60 Machine,

—FOR—

$25.50 =:= $25.50

With Copy of the WEEKLY MIRROR One Year.



The manufacturers claim for THE PREMIUM that it has been improved and simplified in all its details by the best mechanical talent in America, who, with unlimited resources at their command, have combined only that which is practicable and dispensed with all complicated surroundings generally found in other machines.

It is the simplest machine, having the fewest parts, all strong, and with case-hardened bearings. Being free from complication it is easily cared for, never gets out of order, and is always ready for use. The most inexperienced can readily manage it. It has all the modern appliances and conveniences that go to make up the sum of excellences, successfully combining simplicity, durability, speed, strength and beauty, producing a machine unequaled for ease of management and capacity for wide range of work.

THE PREMIUM HIGH-ARM

Is light-running and noiseless, uses A STRAIGHT, SELF-SETTING NEEDLE, and makes the double-thread "Lock Stitch." It is the perfection of mechanism for hemming, felling, binding, cording, braiding, seaming, tucking, ruffling, gathering, embroidering, hemstitching, quilting, etc.

It is adapted to every variety of sewing, from the lightest muslins to the heaviest cloths, and will do a greater range of work than any other machine.

The woodwork is unique and attractive in style and substantially made from well seasoned and carefully selected material. Its elegant finish and rich trimmings are in good taste, and harmonize with the excellent workmanship of the machine.

Far more handsome and ornamental than the ordinary style of woodwork, it is at the same time of equal durability, utility and good finish.

WARRANTEE—The usual five-year warrantee is given to us by the manufacturers, and we in turn guarantee every machine to give full and entire satisfaction.

NO RISK WHATEVER.

So great is our confidence and knowledge of the superiority of the PREMIUM HIGH-ARM that we further agree with every purchaser to REFUND THE MONEY in case full satisfaction is not given by the machine in every particular after a month's trial.

Tailors, Dressmakers, Seamstresses, manufacturers of clothing, shirts, skirts, corsets, umbrellas, etc., will find one of its best recommendations is its special adaptation to their wants and range of work.

The Automatic Tension,

When once properly regulated, will rarely need to be changed, and as a general rule, the whole range of family sewing can be done without any change of tension whatever. This result is obtained by nicely adjusted springs, that will accommodate themselves to the size of thread used.

OUR CLAIMS FOR SUPERIORITY

ARE AS FOLLOWS:

A Device Whereby the bobbin can be wound without running the machine saves the unnecessary wear of the machine and the trouble of unthreading and removing work and attachments while the bobbin is being filled.

A Seal for Regulating The length of stitch, which enables the operator to readily ascertain the length of stitch without testing previous to commencing work.

A Spring-Tension Cylinder Shuttle, Holding a bobbin that carries a large amount of thread. There is but one hole to thread through, making it the most easily threaded shuttle in use. The tension may be changed without removing the shuttle from the machine.

The Double Feed Extends on both sides of the needle and permits a greater variety of work than any other. It has great power and never fails to perform its duty—will feed the lightest and heaviest goods with equal precision, and will cross seams and hard places without changing length of stitch or missing stitches.

Light Running. On account of the simple mechanical devices employed in its construction, runs lighter and with greater speed than any other machine, and is almost noiseless. It is the simpliest, EASIEST OPERATED, best made and most elegantly ornamented machine in the world, combining every requisite to produce perfect work.

Inviting a practical test of this machine, we distinctly claim for it a great superiority in plan, material, workmanship, and in its performance. It is unquestionably the most popular machine now in the market.

—THE OUTFIT.—

Each machine is supplied with the following outfit: One Hemmer and Feller (one piece) Twelve Needles, Six Bobbins, One Wrench, One Quilting Gauge, One Screwdriver, Oil Can filled with oil, Cloth Gauge and Thumbscrew, and a Book of Instructions. The following extra attachments are also furnished free: Ruffler, Tucker, Binder, Set of Wide Hemmers and Shirring Plate.

The book of instructions is profusely illustrated, and answers the purpose of a competent teacher.

Machines are shipped as fast freight, unless otherwise ordered; we paying freightage to Los Angeles, and purchaser paying from Los Angeles to his home.

Sewing machine agents sell this machine for $55 and $60; $25.50 buys one from us, with a year's subscription to the WEEKLY MIRROR in addition. Subscribe with your local agent, or address

By Telegraph to The Times:

NEW YORK, June 26.—Money on call easy at 1¾ per cent.

Prime mercantile paper, 4@6½.

Sterling exchange, dull but steady at 4.87 for 60-day bills, 4.88½ for demand.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The slight flurry in the stock market occasioned by the nomination of the Republican candidates at Chicago came to an end today, and the market resumed its wonted stagnant and featureless appearance by the end of the first hour. A little further progress was made in the downward movement, but this was soon neutralized, and prices were maintained at the same dead level almost throughout the entire day. The close was dull at near the opening figures.

Government bonds, dull but steady.

Mining shares, quiet.

CONSUMPTION.

From consumers, "to waste away," usually applied to the advanced stage of lung disease.

The following are prominent symptoms in the first stage, and whenever any of them exist a thorough examination should be made, with a view to arresting the disease as shown to exist: There is usually a sense of weariness upon a little exercise, a disposition to remain passive and idle, despondency, often from no apparent cause, a peculiar sensitiveness to the effect of cold, and a breathlessness upon moving quickly, or descending a hill or stairs, a slight, hacking cough, with or without expectoration, excitability upon slight occasions, flying pains through the chest or back, or under the shoulder blades. The symptoms are more noticeable toward or during the night, slight fever in the afternoon, cold feet or hands, or in many cases, blue lividity of the lips and roots of the finger-nails.

Constitutional or tubercular consumption is a common form of lung disease. The progress is slow, but if left to itself is no less sure. It usually begins with a dry cough. At first these tubercles are exceedingly minute, the patient not at all suspecting their presence. Gradually they develop into more active disease, and then follows the train of symptoms which leaves no doubt as to its true character. Sometimes spitting of blood or slight streaks in the mucus is the first ind cation of tubercular deposits, or it may be a chilly sensation in the back, followed by more or less heat in the palms of the hands, or an afternoon flush on the cheeks. The slow and gradual inroads of this form of consumption leave the stomach and appetite undisturbed for a considerable time. Finally, however, hectic fever and night sweats supervene, preceded by diarrhœa. Then the loss of strength and flesh becomes rapid, the chest contracts, the features sharpen, the eye attains an unusual brilliancy, and the patient begins to realize that he is in the last stage of confirmed constitutional consumption.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless until both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but, if impossible to do so, can write for a copy of my medical treatise, containing a list of questions. Address
